93% Indian students aware of just seven career options:
What are parents doing wrong?

A recent survey on career option awareness among Indian students has revealed that a staggering 93% of the students aged 14 to 21 were aware of just seven career options though there are more than 250 different types of job options available in India. Are parents doing something wrong?

The Guardian

According to The Guardian,

“about 600 million people, more than half of India’s population, are under 25 years old; no country has a higher number of young people. Hence, there is a dire need for this youth to be guided and led on a career path that is right for them.

93% Indian students aware of just seven career options:

What are parents doing wrong?

The need for a structured approach to career guidance among youngsters

Recent studies have revealed that as much as 90% of students opt for a wrong career path due to a lack of career guidance and the persisting gap between skills and aptitudes.

India needs 15 lakh counsellors for 315 million students

The Education industry is witnessing a drastic change with the induction of Artificial Intelligence in every sphere of life. National Education Policy allows students to study a fusion of subjects from diverse streams simultaneously. Students have the freedom to create Careers of their choice.

Many students tend to follow the career paths that their parents or seniors, relatives, or friends suggest to them, without exploring other options. A recent survey, published in both the Times of India and The Hindu, indicated that 93% of students aged 14 to 21 were aware of only seven career options. Due to the lack of proper knowledge, students often make career choices that may not be the best fit for them.

Some of the students would like to be more satisfied with the career option that they selected. Strategic Career Counselling will lead to more fulfilling Careers. If we fail to mentor our future generation, there will be unemployment and underemployment, thus leading to a loss of National Talent.

We have launched the Future Mentoring Programme (FMP) to empower educators and other stakeholders of Society to mentor students in selecting the most suitable career options. The FMP focuses on holistic career development.

Through the FMP, we invite educators, counsellors, and other stakeholders in our ecosystem to join us and facilitate career counselling sessions.

Our empanelled career counsellors will help students embark on a Career journey. With the proper guidance, this journey can become an enjoyable and exciting experience.

Stages of Counselling:

1. The first step for counsellors is to register students who will be guided through the different stages of career counselling.
2. Once students are ready, they will take an assessment to assess their interests, personality, values, skills, knowledge, etc. (No prior preparation is required).
3. On the following day, students will have a one-to-one counselling session where students will engage in personalized guidance.
4. If students are not satisfied with assessment & one-to-one counselling for any reason, students will receive a full refund of the fee.
5. Students can go for detailed one-on-one counselling. Moreover, our professionals from academia, industry, etc., can provide mentoring guidance and support to help students reach their full potential.
6. Continuous handholding and support can also be provided to help them achieve their dreams.

Future Mentoring Programme (FMP) : Career Counselling Solutions
